SERVICE PARTS LIST INFORMATION

1. This Service Parts List consists of exploded component views, description of the component and the corresponding coded part number.
2. Parts shown in the exploded view are listed on the left hand page, being classified in a consecutive numbering system.
3. When you want to find out the coded part number for a specific component, refer first to the exploded view to locate the listed consecutive number for that assembly.
Then refer to the left hand page for the correct part number for ordering.
4. When you want to identify a part from its part number, see the Index of the part number listed at the end of the service parts list.
5. The correct part or component can only be supplied when the coded part number, instrument model number and descriptive name of the component plus quantity desired is indicated.
6. When a component or sub-assembled part of a product is changed, it will be published in the Topcon Service News.
When the product is greatly improved, the revised edition of the Service Parts List will be published.
